Approved by Board of Directors: November 18, 2014, July 20, 2023

Introduction:

Research from diverse fields of study show that children who attend programs where they experience warm and supportive relationships are happier, less anxious and more motivated to learn than those who do not. Experiencing positive in early childhood also has significant long-term impacts on physical, mental health and success in school and beyond. Through the application of Orde Day Care's Program Statement, along with an outline of behaviours that support positive interactions, and a clear description of those practices that are prohibited by Orde Day Care, we can encourage children to develop to their fullest potential.

Application:

All staff, volunteers and students must review this policy prior to working with the children. The policy must be reviewed and signed off annually.

Orde Day Care is committed to the principle of promoting positive interaction using age appropriate methods. Below is a list of the methods which promote positive interactions with children that must take into a consideration a child's or groups developmental level, abilities and needs and strengths:

- Responding to their requests quickly
- Following their lead and interest during play
- Providing warm and responsive contact
- Engaging them in face-to-face interactions and/or discussions
- Actively listening to their thoughts, feeling and ideas.
- Using a pleasant, calm voice and language that is developmentally appropriate while making eye contact
- Helping children understand your expectations by providing simple but clear explanations and limits prior to activities and transitions (not by directing)
- Taking the time to engage children in the process of resolving problems and conflicts rather than reiterating classroom rules
- When children's behavior is challenging and disruptive, thinking about where and how they might have more success and redirect them there
- Fostering thoughtfulness and caring by listening to children and by encouraging them to listen to others and share ideas
- Being genuine in acknowledging children for their accomplishments and effort by clearly stating what it is they have done well
- Being patient and calm in your behavior actions, and responses
- Ensuring your expectations and activities meet the developmental ability of the child
- In any situation, being involved with the children without encroaching on their play
- Arranging the environment so that children are guarded against dangerous situations
- Arranging each area of the program in a way that can help prevent disputes from arising, i.e. have enough stimulating and interesting activities set up for the number of children in the room
- Observing children to see how to support the development of self-control and self-regulation

ORDE DAY CARE CENTRE'S STAFF- POLICY AND PROCEDURE BINDER

- Remembering each child is different, so your approach or method of dealing with a child may also vary, depending on that particular child's need in that particular situation
- Encouraging the children to verbalize their feelings, fears, and anxieties
- Being alert to the development of potentially difficult situations or disputes between children
- Following up when limits are broken
- Calling the supervisor or another staff member if a situation or child becomes too difficult to handle alone
- Recognizing that staff requesting help is a strength, not a weakness

This is used a last resort and only until the risk of injury is no longer imminent.

De-escalating a Volatile Situation:

It is recognized that in some extreme situations, wherein a child is endangering his/herself or others, staff may find themselves having to respond to a crisis situation using removal as a method to defuse and/or de-escalate a volatile situation. Orde Day Care does not approve of removing children from the program, but recognizes there are times when children are at risk of hurting themselves or others. These guidelines reinforce the need to ensure that children are supervised and safe at all times.

De-escalating Volatile Behaviour Procedures:

1. Staff will call another room's or office staff informing them that there is an emergency situation and they need assistance.
2. Supervisor or Director will try to support the child in the room until they are able to gain control.
3. If the child continues to be a risk to themselves or the other children, the Supervisor or Director will escort child outside of the classroom and provide an alternate activity to the child, until they appear ready to be reintroduced back in to the program.
4. If the child is unable to gain control and now poses a safety risk to the management team, the child's parents or guardian will be called to come and pick up the child. This step is only carried out as a last resort and when all other strategies have been exhausted
5. Once the child has regained control of their behaviour, he or she will be supportively introduced back into the program. The staff should remain with this child until they are involved in an activity or task.
6. The staff and Supervisor and/or Director will meet with the child's parent/guardian to discuss the - incident and determine the strategies to be utilized should the child encounter a similar situation.

7. The Supervisor and staff will keep the parent/guardian up to date on the child's progress using a mutually agreed upon method of communication (e.g. phone calls, regular meetings, written log, etc.). This also includes a review of the strategies.
 8. If parental consent is provided, the centre will contact Children Services, Resource Educator to assist the centre with developing strategies for a more successful placement for the child.
 9. Meetings between the parent and resource educator will endeavor to include the program staff who works with the child and Supervisor whenever possible.
 10. All written individualized plans which are developed by the Resource education will be shared with the appropriate staff and placed in the individual support plan binder. A copy will also be provided to the parent.
 11. Supervisors will inform other staff who work with this child to review the individual support plan.
 12. Supervisor and or Director will also provide support to staff through workshops or training for assisting child through this period of development.
 13. If further support is deemed necessary for the child to continue at the Centre, the Supervisor will request Intensive Child Care Support Funds for the child through the CSIS application.
