Policy

The intention of this policy is to ensure the safety and wellbeing of the children during the movement from one area of the program to another. It provides staff a procedure to follow where joint responsibility of the children is shared amongst the program staff. The procedure respects the child's development and ability to manage during a change in activity.

Procedure

- Staff must ensure that they know the number of children in attendance at all times.
- Staff must position themselves so that they can see the interactions of the children and as much of the area they are supervising
- All children must be marked in upon arrival and out at the end of the day, indicating time of arrival and departure on the main attendance, including children who are visiting from another program.
- Only staff members mark children in and out on attendance board. (Full time staff is preferable)
- The early staff in each room is responsible for ensuring the children are marked in with the time on the daily attendance record
- The late staff in each room is responsible for ensuring the children are marked out with the time on the daily attendance record
- When staff work alone, they are required to complete both the marking in and out of children on the daily attendance record with the corresponding times
- Arrival and departure times are marked in pen only.
- Parents should be encouraged to sign their children in and out on their child's daily chart when applicable.
- Staff prepares children for transitions using visual props, songs and schedules.
- Children are transitioned in small groups, when moving from one environment or activity to another
- *Small groups consist of one staff member and the allowable ratios for one staff in that age group.
- Positive interactions are observed between staff and children during the transition.
- The portable attendance accompanies the staff and children who are transitioning to a new environment or activity.

The main attendance reflects any small groups who have left the room.
